Colorado Roofing Association announces award winners

The Colorado Roofing Association (CRA) held it's 8th Annual Awards Dinner in February. The Job of the Year Award is given in four divisions. Winners this year included Academy Roofing, Arapahoe Roofing & Sheet Metal, Black Roofing, Boulder Roofing, Colorado Roofing & Exteriors, D&D Roofing and The Roofing Co.

Boulder Roofing took First Place in Division I with their work on the Net Zero Energy House in Boulder - the ultimate "Built Green" home that produces as much energy as it will use.

Colorado Roofing & Exteriors received a Second Place award in Division I for a private residence in Parker that used the new roofing trend of "Combination Roofing" where both composition shingles and metal roofing are incorporated into the roof design.

With strict guidelines from the Colorado Historical Society and a lot of teamwork, Academy Roofing wins First Place in Division II for their historic and high profile reroof of the 1892 4-story 16/12 pitch roof on the Iliff School of Theology in Denver.

D&D Roofing takes Second Place in Division II for their "heavenly" project at the Redemptoris Mater Archdiocesan Missionary Seminary of Denver that required working with the Pope's Architect and importing the tile roof from Spain.

A "true work of art" provided Black Roofing with a First Place win in Division III for their complicated and complex work at the Denver Museum of Contemporary Art in downtown Denver.

The re-roof of the Lodge & Spa at Cordillera earned Arapahoe Roofing and Sheet Metal Second Place in Division III for their mountain re-roof project completed during Vail's snowy winter months and all while the Spa remained open and operational.

Amidst daily emails from the Mayor's office, City Council and Judges, Arapahoe Roofing and Sheet Metal received First Place in Division IV for their high profile reroof of the Denver City & County Building in downtown Denver.

The Roofing Company takes Second Place in Division IV for their complex mountain job that presented them with a challenging and difficult concrete tile roof on The Gates at Beaver Creek.

Congratulations to all the 2008 winners of the 8th Annual Colorado Roofing Association's Awards.

The Job of the Year Award was established in 2001 to recognize the outstanding work done by members of the Colorado Roofing Association. These jobs are showcased each February at CRA's Annual Awards Dinner and highlight the work that is being done in the roofing industry and honors the contractors, material distributors and manufacturers who see these projects through to completion.
